Postgraduate offerings in 2014

The Culture Cluster of the School of Social Sciences comprises Anthropology and Cultural and Heritage Tourism. Our offerings are as follows: BA or BSOC Honours in Anthropology, MA or MSOC in Anthropology, PhD in Anthropology, MA in Cultural and Heritage Tourism, and PhD in Cultural and Heritage Tourism

Anthropology (Howard College and Pietermaritzburg)

Anthropology is the study of humankind. Of all the human science disciplines, anthropology is best placed to contribute to a comprehensive understanding of the diversity and unity that characterise human life on this planet. Its distinctive approach lies in its global, comparative, and multidimensional perspective. As the 'global village' and its development challenges expand, people who possess different values, religions, customs and perspectives increasingly find themselves competing for scarce resources while trying to live together. For such reasons, there is a growing demand for the expertise and methodologies of people trained in anthropology.

Cultural and Heritage Tourism (Howard College)

Cultural and Heritage Tourism is an inter-disciplinary field of study which focuses on various aspects of local culture and heritage and on the implications of their development as tourist attractions

Students undertaking full-time research masters studies or research doctoral studies will receive 100% remission of fees.
